Johnson and Erhard Start Weekend Talks

By ENDRE MARTON

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson and West German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard — two new leaders in the East-West struggle—begin sounding each other out today on how to deal with the Soviet Union.

"There is nothing more important than East-West relations," Johnson said Friday as he declared the issue will be "the most important part" of his two-day weekend conference with Erhard.

"We are going down the road that will lead to peace," Johnson said in a press conference in a barbecue grove of the LBJ Ranch.

"We believe that progress can be made, and we are going to do our best to do our part."

Another important part of the meeting will be the business of Johnson and Erhard taking each other's measure. They met briefly at the funeral of John F. Kennedy.

The President meets his guest this morning at Bergstrom Air Force Base near Austin, then they fly by helicopter to the Johnson ranch.

U.S. officials believe the American-German meeting should answer the question of whether the new Bonn leadership is less antagonistic toward a new round of talks with Moscow than former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer was.

Since Erhard took over from Adenauer last October, Bonn has made it clear it would not object to continuation of exploratory talks with the Kremlin.

The Germans also let it be known, however, they have grave reservations against such Soviet-proposed projects as an East-West nonaggression pact, or the exchange of military observation posts between the NATO and Warsaw Pact nations.

The conferences at the Johnson ranch should answer the question on what issues the United States and Germany can agree, and which have to be explored further. Only then can the West consider the fine points of approaches to Moscow.

Mice Romp All Night Just for Fun

By FRANK CAREY
A. P. Science Writer

CLEVELAND (AP) — Mice which apparently would climb skyscraper buildings just for the fun of it suggest that humans might be motivated better by tough problems than by tangible rewards, a team of scientists said today.

Zoologists Daniel Brant and J. Lee Kavanau said in a report to the 130th meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science. Both researchers are of the University of California at Los Angeles.

They told of unique experiments with wild "deer mice" in which the rodents—placed in an apparatus featuring a complex maze of passageways and blind alleys—"ran as much as three miles and climbed as much as 300 feet, the height of a 25-story building, in one night" just for the fun of exploring the labyrinth.

Meanwhile, the mice paid little or no attention to an unrestricted supply of food, water, and, in some instances, the presence of potential girlfriends or boy-friends—a setup which the scientists said "should have permitted a mouse to eat, drink and be merry" if it cared to do so.

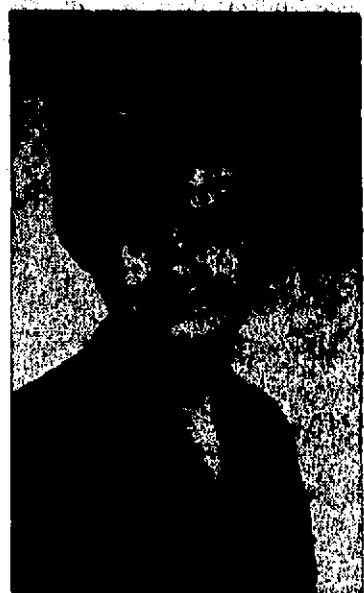

In summing up the possible significance of their observations, the scientists said:

"People frequently ask experimenters whether they really think humans behave like mice. One wonders if humans would find the solution of completely new problems as self-rewarding as mice find the exploration of complex mazes.

"If so, it might be more effective to motivate humans with challenging problems rather than with tangible rewards."

Erhard Has More Voice in World Affairs

By JOHN WEYLAND
Associated Press Writer

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Ludwig Erhard heads for his meeting with President Johnson bolstered by a stronger voice in world affairs, thanks to a solution of the Common Market crisis. This was his first big test as West Germany's new leader.

Erhard is flying from Bonn Friday for a weekend at the Johnson ranch in Texas and the first full-scale talks since the chancellor and the President took office.

Long famous as the author of West Germany's post-war economic boom, Erhard, 66, succeeded former Chancellor Konrad Adenauer Oct. 16 under a cloud of doubt. Adenauer called his former economic minister naive politically.

But Erhard made a strong start in foreign affairs by standing up to the formidable French president, Charles de Gaulle, on the eve of the West German leader's trip to the United States.

De Gaulle's stand imperiled the Common Market experiment for West Germany and the other member nations—Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and the Netherlands.

Erhard stubbornly refused to accept a unified agricultural policy De Gaulle wants until the French president made concessions. Erhard pressured De Gaulle into supporting a U.S.-favored liberal approach on the coming international tariff negotiations in Geneva.

Although De Gaulle warned that the Common Market might break up, Erhard remained unruffled. Puffing slowly on a big, black cigar, his trademark, Erhard predicted a solution would be found.

It was Monday, after a prolonged foreign ministers' conference in Brussels. De Gaulle agreed to the joint tariff stand. Erhard made concessions in farm policy.

The result, enthusiastically received in Bonn, boosted Erhard's chances for re-election in 1965, and strengthened his hand in dealing with Johnson.

Injuries Fatal to Girl, 10

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Bonnie Kay McCauley, 10, who was injured in a wreck in which four persons were killed Dec. 19, died Thursday in a Little Rock hospital.

She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arvin McCauley of Denver City, Tex. Two of her sisters, Elaine, 8, and Paulette, 13, are recovering from injuries suffered in the wreck.

The girls were staying with their grandmother in Malvern. They were riding in a car with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ellis of Malvern and their daughter, Arlene Ellis, 12, when it collided head-on with a car driven by Eugene McGrew, 28, of Pine Bluff.

Ellis, 34, his wife, Arlene, 28, and daughter, and McGrew died in the crash. The accident happened nine miles north of Malvern on U.S. Highway 51.

Compensation Asked by U.S. of Bulgaria

By ERIC WAHA

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—The United States is demanding compensation from Communist Bulgaria for damages done to U.S. property Friday when 3,000 Bulgarians demonstrated outside the American Legation in Sofia.

The demonstrators overturned four American cars and smashed all windows on the legation's first three floors by hurling chunks of ice from the streets.

There was no immediate estimate of the damage. None of the legation's personnel was injured.

The U.S. demand for compensation was made in a strong protest in Sofia to the Communist government of Premier Todor Zhivkov by the ranking legation official, Richard Johnson. Johnson is in charge of the legation in the absence of Mrs. Eugene Anderson, U.S. minister to Bulgaria, who is on vacation.

Johnson, reached by telephone today, said "all is quiet now."

The attack appeared to be in retaliation for the alleged U.S. employment of former Bulgarian diplomat Ivan Asen Christov Georgiev, 56, as a spy.

The mob descended on the building 24 hours after the former second man in a Bulgaria's U.N. delegation pleaded guilty before the supreme court in Sofia of spying for the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency for seven years. He testified he was paid a total of $200,000 from 1956 to 1963 by the CIA and spend most of the money "to meet the needs of my girl friends."

A U.S. Legation spokesman charged Bulgarian authorities took their time in dispatching police to the besieged building. This contradicted a report issued by the official Bulgarian Telegraph Agency, which said the demonstrators were quickly dispersed by mounted police.

Public demonstrations in Communist lands are usually government-inspired, a view held of this outbreak by U.S. officials in Washington. They theorized that the Bulgarian communists may have wanted to show Communist China it is not "soft on the United States."

Weather Question Will Be Changed

CHICAGO (AP)—"How's the weather out?" is a question Weather Bureaus have answered for years.

Now it's going to be "How's the weather in."

Beginning Jan. 2, the Chicago Weather Bureau will issue reports on the indoor relative humidity several times a day during the remainder of the cold season.

The new service will be introduced on a test basis as a health benefit measure. Low humidity aggravates the nose and throat and is a source of discomfort.

The reports will tell the relative humidity outside air would have if heated to 72 degrees Fahrenheit.

Unless moisture is added indoors, the Weather Bureau said, heated winter air has a much lower humidity than the frigid outside air. For example, if it's zero outside and the humidity is 100 per cent, the same air when heated to 72 degrees gives a reading of 6 per cent humidity—drier than average desert air.

5.2 Million Chicks Starte

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas producers started 5,283,000 broiler chicks during the week ending Dec. 21, the Crop Reporting Service estimated today, two per cent below the figure for the previous week.

Of total placements in the state, 4,703,000 chicks were hatched in Arkansas and 580,000 shipped in. There were 211,000 broiler chicks shipped out of the state during the week.

Johnson, Mexico President to Talk

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Adolf Lopez Mateos of Mexico is expected to meet President Johnson in Los Angeles late in February, informed sources said today.

It was understood Feb. 21-22 has been advanced as the date for the meeting but that no final decision has yet been reached.

Johnson announced at his first news conference Dec. 7 that he was going to invite the president of Mexico to come to the United States for a visit.

Will Try to Break Cycle of Poverty

EDITOR'S NOTE — North Carolina's Gov. Terry Sanford, who made education the foundation of his administration, has started in the Tar Heel State a $14-million attempt to break what he calls this "cycle of poverty."

By PHIL CORNER

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — To thousands of children in North Carolina, first grade is a foreign world of strange, bewildering things like books and crayons and gaily colored pictures.

They come from homes mired in poverty where education is neither understood nor respected. They cannot cope with a course of study designed for their more fortunate classmates.

"The children find everything at school so alien," Gov. Terry Sanford said, "they never quite catch on, and within the next few years they become the drop-outs. In time, they become the parents of poverty again."

Through Sanford's efforts state and local governments and the Ford Foundation have teamed up in a $14-million attempt to break this "cycle of poverty."

A new agency, the North Carolina Fund, has been set up to administer a five-year program which will include 10 community projects and a statewide endeavor to improve the teaching of reading, writing and arithmetic in the first three grades.

Sanford said the community projects would be "essentially an attempt to locate the people in the rural, mountain and city areas who have problems, take them by the hand and show them how the state, county and local agencies can help them and put them on their own two feet."

Officials have warned against expecting dramatic developments. It is, they have said, a long-range attack on an ancient, stubborn foe.

North Carolina has a severe dropout problem, a high percentage of illiteracy and a per capita income that is 43rd in the nation.

Only one-half the youngsters who entered school in 1950 were graduated in June 1962. More than one-fourth the adults over 25 were listed in the 1960 census as functionally illiterate.

The statewide program for the primary grades has received a $4-million grant from the fund. The other $10 million will go into projects in 10 communities to be selected early next year.

Specifics in the program are lacking. Fund officials have offered some suggestions to local governments, but they feel vagueness is one of the greatest strengths of the effort.

"We're trying to encourage thinking from the bottom up, rather than from the top down," Director George Esser said.

The reading, writing and arithmetic program is to begin in January in 20 elementary schools and grow during the next four years, to include 400.

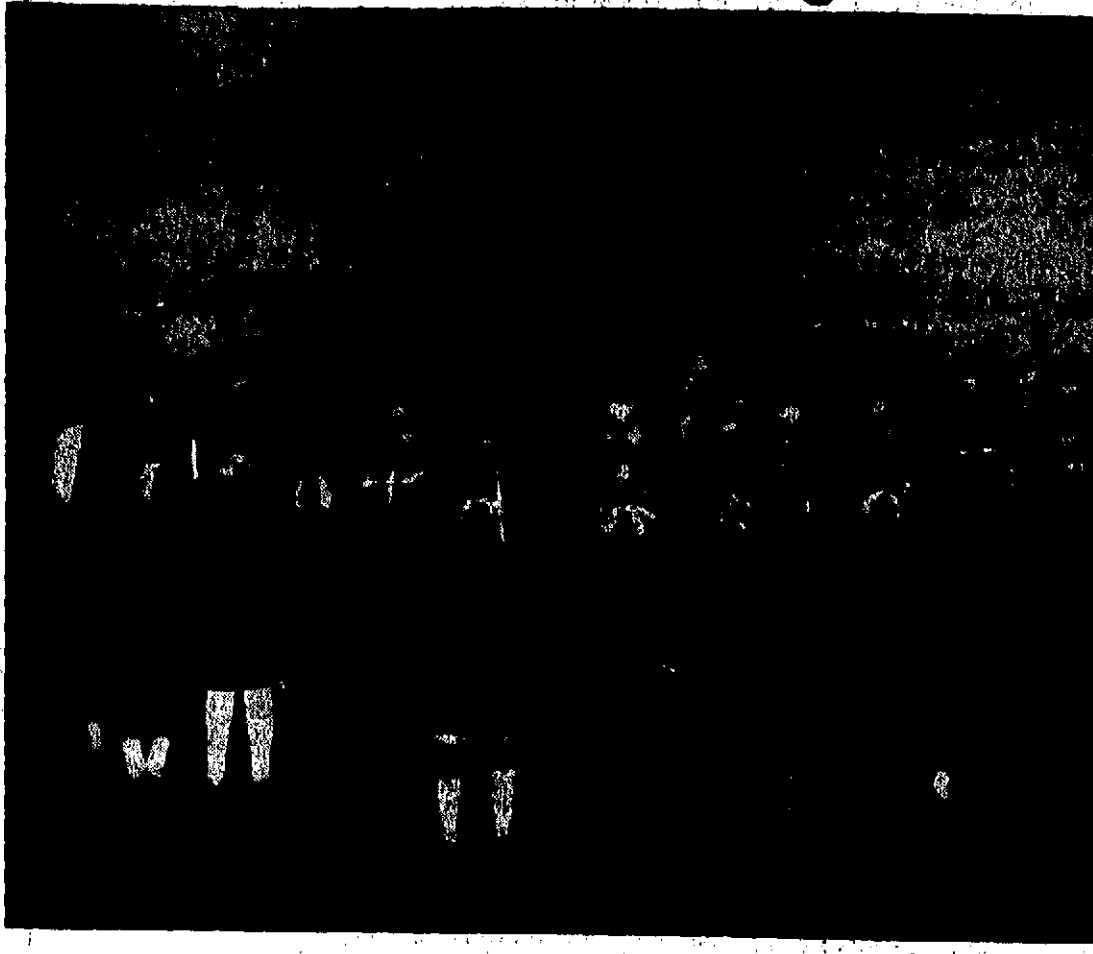

It will experiment with the idea of grouping the first three grades into a single unit, separating the children not by age but by achievement level.

Between Christmas and New Year's Nothing Stirs Much Except a Few Tall Stories

By MARY ANITA LASETER

Between Christmas and New Year's Day there is not much "stirring" except coffee, which gives us "grounds" for a few stories.

In its 1,000-year history, coffee has been enjoyed by many people with varying tastes. It has been flavored with spices, laced with liqueurs and crowned with flame. Frederick the Great even brewed his with champagne. But if you ask most Americans how they like their coffee, they'll say, "Pass the cream and sugar, please!" Cream and sugar were definitely western contributions.

It seems that European people first encountered coffee when visiting in the Near East in the late 1500's. Spices were the flavorings most used, then, but the visitors quickly added sugar to suit their palates. Then, in 1660 the Dutch Ambassador to China added milk to coffee imitating the Chinese tea with milk. Of course, the French cafe au lait was a direct result of that.

Almost any school child can tell you the first words the great explorer Sir Henry Morton Stanley said to Dr. David Livingstone. His greeting, "Doctor Livingstone, I presume," has been immortalized in print. Very few may be aware of the good doctor's equally casual answer, "Just in time for coffee, Stanley." If Lord Meston of England had correctly documented the historic reply, then the coffee break was enjoyed in darkest Africa as far back as 1871.

Coffee, many centuries ago, was regarded as a medicine. But there was one early British doctor who foresaw coffee's future, not in the medical kit but on the dining table. William Harvey, who discovered the circulation of the blood, left a legacy of enlightenment when he died in 1657. With the statement, "This little bean is the source of happiness and wit!" he bequeathed 56 pounds of coffee to the London College of Physicians, directing that his friends gather once a month to drink coffee in his memory.

If you think the "coffee break" is an American invention, you may not be entirely correct. When William Drury of the "Honolulu Star-Bulletin" was a reporter for a Singapore paper some years ago, he had to depend on a Malay copy boy to get his coffee for him. But their languages presented difficulties.

As the reporter worked, his copy boy was supposed to leap at the word "copy" and rush the copy to the editors. Instead, every time he yelled "copy!" the boy would disappear and return half an hour later with a steaming cup of coffee, which the boy swore had been ordered.

At last Drury realized what was happening. He explained, "You see, Malays, like Filipinos, have no 'i' in their picturesque language. They pronounce it as 'p' and coffee in the Malay tongue is KOPI. "The problem was easily solved. When we wanted coffee, we yelled 'copy!' And when we wanted to send copy to the printers, we yelled 'coffee!'"

Christmas, Auto Tags Go Together

By J. W. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — About the time you get Christmas paid for, it will be time for another annual expense — automobile tags.

This is an item that has been going up generally, with more and more cities and towns getting into the act along with the states.

The top charges run as high as $72.95, in Oklahoma, and $69.35, in Minnesota.

A mass of information has been gathered about car tags by the American Automobile Association and the National Geographic Society.

For one thing, there seems to be a trend toward making the tags good for more than one year. Nineteen states now issue stickers or tabs instead of requiring an annual replacement of plates.

Also, more states each year are using reflective plates. These cost a little extra to make, how much depending on how many years they are supposed to last.

The average cost of manufacturing tags runs about 15 to 30 cents. Nearly all are made by prison labor. The size is now a standard 12 by 6 inches, after many years of variety.

Various states like to use the tags to advertise their special specialties or attractions. Only infrequently is there any objection from car owners, but it was reported recently that one citizen threatened to go to court to prevent New York from advertising its world fair on its 1964 plates.

Registration of autos began in 1901, in New York State. The need was obvious—to help identify a car that was stolen or involved in an accident. At the beginning the revenue didn't amount to much—$1 a car.

There has always been a special appeal in low numbers, these usually being reserved for top state officials. Peculiar combinations also are popular.

A Wisconsin man named Ole Lee managed to get plates numbered 337-370 which he put on upside down, to spell his name. Mickey Mantle, whose baseball uniform carries the number 7, got plates with the number 77-7777. Heavyweight boxer Rocky Marciano once had the letters KO.

By paying an extra fee Connecticut car owners have been allowed to get special combinations of four letters. Two teen-aged friends had gallopies that sported rock and roll. A man named Krout was happy with tags reading K-R-O-U-T.

Auto Licenses on Sale Next Thursday

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The sale in Arkansas next Thursday. A record 570,163 licenses were sold through October of this year. The old record was 544,151 in all of 1962.

The $2 driver's license, good for one year, will be sold at the same time as the plates.

Good, Better Are Business Forecasts

By STERLING F. GREEN
WASHINGTON (AP) — You can take your choice from two business forecasts for 1964—one good and one better.

The difference is tax reduction. The consensus of government and private economists holds that:

If the late President Kennedy's $11-billion tax cut program is enacted soon, 1964 will be a banner year. National output may rise by 5 per cent or more to a record $615 billion, give or take a few billions.

If the tax bill is killed, or hangs fire in Congress until the nearly 3-year business rise runs out of gas, it is generally agreed that second-half 1964 will see a downturn.

But even if there is a late-year sag, over-all 1964 output will crack this year's record of $583 billion.

That's because the upswing—which has accelerated in recent months—seems to have enough momentum to keep the indexes rising through the first and probably the second quarter, most economists agree.

The production rate will top $600 billion a year this winter or spring, the President's Council of Economic Advisers predicts. But its chairman, Dr. Walter W. Heller, has warned that the immediate prospect is for a gradual rise—no boom, and no appreciable drop in joblessness.

Concurring with the view of private industry experts that current gains are due partly to the expectation of investors, business managers and consumers that tax cuts are coming, Heller warned:

"The disappointment of expectations if the tax cut were, unexpectedly, to falter and fall by the wayside would make a sharp difference in the 1964 outlook."

"To say that it would pull the rug out from under the expansionary expectations for the year would not overstate the economic realities."

Twice in 1963 the expansion sputtered and almost faltered—in February, when personal income sagged and unemployment climbed to 6.1 per cent, and in August, when industrial output took its first and only tumble of the year.

But by Nov. 22, when the assassination of President John F. Kennedy rocked the nation and its markets, the basic strength of the economy was so visible that the sudden panic of the exchanges was quickly calmed.

Within 37 minutes after the news from Dallas that Friday, huge blocks of stocks were dumped and prices plunged 21 points on the Dow-Jones industrial averages. The New York exchange shut its doors early to halt the avalanche.

Cyprus Blames Turkey With War Threat

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS N.Y. (AP)—Cyprus charged Turkey at an emergency U.N. Security Council meeting early this morning with jeopardizing a cease-fire on the Mediterranean island with "gunboat diplomacy." Turkey denied the charge.

The 11-nation Security Council adjourned at 1:02 a.m. today without acting on the Cypriot charge or setting a date for a further meeting.

Zenon Rossides, Cypriot chief delegate, accused Turkey of speeding a dozen warships toward Cyprus to terrorize the Greek Cypriot population. But, he suggested, the Turkish government ordered the vessels to change course after he asked for the emergency Security Council session.

Adnan Kural, Turkish chief delegate, said his government had no intentions of invading the small eastern Mediterranean island where burning animosity between the Greek and Turkish Cypriots erupted into violence last Saturday and resulted in sporadic clashes that lasted until Friday.

Kural said the Turkish warships were just passing between Turkish ports. Turkey's southern coast is 40 miles from Cyprus.

Cyprus, Turkey and Greece each assured the council they want to preserve a cease-fire negotiated on Christmas Eve by Greek and Turkish Cypriot leaders.

The Security Council meeting convened at 11:35 p.m. EST Friday, six hours after Cyprus requested the session.

Rossides said his foreign office telephoned him at 5 p.m. EST Friday, informing him that planes of the British Royal Air Force had spotted the Turkish ships—five submarines, four destroyers and three troop-carriers or auxiliaries—25 miles north of Cyprus.

But, he said, less than an hour after he requested the council's emergency session "we got information that those ships were not speeding toward Cyprus—they were changed to another direction."

He also charged Turkish fighter planes with violating Cypriot air space. Early today several planes, not immediately identified as Turkish, flew over Cyprus.

A British spokesman said, however, his delegation had told Rossides and other council members that the RAF had sighted the warships moving away from Cyprus. He said that at no time did the RAF report them speeding toward Cyprus.

Rules About Mex Labor to Tighten

DALLAS (AP) — Tighter provisions on employing Mexican farm workers will be in force in 1964, the Labor Department's Bureau of Employment Security said today.

And some of the rules will affect domestic workers as well, said Tracy C. Murrell, regional administrator of the bureau.

Farmers in Texas and Arkansas are being informed that they face new obligations under the Agricultural Act of 1949, which permitted use of Mexicans. It has been regularly amended.

In 1964, employers of foreign workers must pay domestic workers as much as the rate required for foreign workers. The rate is 60 cents an hour in Arkansas.

Qualified domestic workers must be given preference for the best jobs and employers must try to recruit domestic workers. If workers are laid off, foreign workers must be first.

Congress voted a one-year extension of the bracero law last fall but indicated that 1964 might be the last year for the program.

Domestic workers must be paid the hourly minimum applicable in the state.

Employers must keep adequate records of employment and earnings of domestic workers if they are employed during a period when Mexican workers also are employed.

Southern State Building Burns

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP)—An early-morning fire destroyed the hay barn and feed barn at Southern State College and threatened the college's main agriculture building, in which some students live.

No injuries were reported. Billy Ray Machen, college plant engineer, said he did not know how the fire began and no estimate of damage was made immediately.

The fire also destroyed 2,500 to 3,500 bales of hay and feed mixing equipment.

The principal danger to the steel-structure main agriculture building was from intense heat, Machen said. Firemen fought the flames for nearly six hours.

Asks No Dogs Be Sent to White House

By J. W. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, a dog lover but still a man of prudence, has done the sensible thing again.

He has asked that Americans not flood the White House with gifts of dogs and other animals. Specifically, the President accepted the gift of a white collie from a 9-year-old Illinois girl, but asked at the same time that others who want to send animal gifts to give them instead to children or institutions in their own communities.

The first family already had two Beagles and two Beagles just by themselves are a lot of dogs. Every first family has been deluged with gifts, some of them probably to the point of embarrassment. No one likes to return a gift, or to refuse one that is well-meant, even if it is not particularly wanted and has to be fed.

The John F. Kennedys, having two small children, were particularly showered with pets, but they always seemed to have room for one more.

In addition to three ponies, the Kennedys were honored with dogs galore, the most famous being Pushinka, the offspring of a Soviet space dog. She was a gift from Premier Khrushchev. Other Kennedy dogs included Charlie, a Welsh terrier; an Irish wolfhound, various cockers, a German shepherd and some pups born to Pushinka and Charlie.

Dogs have always been the most popular presidential pets, beginning with George Washington. An exception to the dog-loving line was President Harry S. Truman, but his friends were always quick to point out that he had nothing against dogs.

A White House dog that figured in politics was Fala, a lively Scottie belonging to President Franklin D. Roosevelt. In the 1944 presidential campaign, some critics of FDR charged that a destroyer was sent to the Aleutian Islands at heavy expense to the taxpayers after Fala allegedly had been left behind in one of the President's trips.

Roosevelt turned the tables in a radio broadcast, still remembered as a campaign masterpiece, which poked ridicule at politicians who stooped to attack "my little dog, Fala."

During the first world war the White House grounds were pasture for a flock of sheep. President Woodrow Wilson had a double purpose: to help keep the grass trimmed and to provide wool that could be sold for the benefit of the Red Cross.

President William McKinley had a parrot which, so it has been chronicled, could whistle "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

And President William Howard Taft owned a Jersey cow named Pauline.

Wants Pope's Visit to Aid Relations

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A noted Moslem scholar hopes Pope Paul's pilgrimage to the Holy Land next week will promote more sympathetic understanding among Christians and Moslems, linked by many common beliefs but separated by wide gulfs.

Mohammed afrullah Khan, a leading authority on Islam, predicts the pontiff will be received by Moslems with deep respect, because sayings of the Prophet Mohammed enjoin his followers to honor those who are honored among their own people.

Zafullah Khan, former United Nations General Assembly president and former foreign minister of Pakistan, is now a member of the International Court. He believes the great religions gradually are drawing closer and he hopes the papal visit will help that process.

Pope Paul will travel through Israel, which regards itself as the national home of all Jews, and through neighboring Jordan, whose population, while predominantly Moslem and ruled by a young king claiming descent from the prophet.

Islam, the religion of the Moslems, comes from the Arabic word Aslama, meaning: submit. Moslem comes from the same root, and means one who has submitted. The Koran, Islam's bible, is the body of revelations from God to his prophet, Mohammed, but Mohammed was mortal. Moslems do not consider him divine.

What separates Islam and Christianity, both cradled in the Holy Land? afrullah Khan says the greatest difference is in how they regard Jesus Christ.

To Christians in general, Jesus the Messiah is the Son of God, one of the Holy Trinity of Father, Son and Holy Spirit. To Moslems, Jesus is an honored prophet, but not the Son of God except in the sense that all men are God's children. To Moslems, belief in a trinity is to imply that there is more than one God.

Both Christians and Moslems revere the Jewish prophets of the Old Testament. Both believe in a judgment day and life after death, both believe Jesus is in heaven and has access to God. But there are differences.

The Moslems have no priesthood. Islam has imams—leaders, and teachers, but it is the most secular of religions.

To Moslems, the emphasis is on a god of power. The idea of a god of love is less evident than in Christianity.

Islam is based on the five pillars: faith, prayer, alms, fasting and pilgrimage to Mecca in Saudi Arabia. These are the duties of a Moslem, and every Moslem hopes to become a haji, one who has made the pilgrimage.

The Indians used their pottery mainly for cooking, carrying, and boiling water, making salt an dsugar for storing away foods, and also in religious and burial customs.

for the 7,072-ton Spanish freighter Castillo De Montjuich, six days overdue on a voyage from Boston, Mass., to La Coruna.

Between 40 and 50 men were aboard the ship, which had a general cargo of 9,000 tons. The Spanish cruiser Canarias and two frigates searched Atlantic waters for the ship.

The Castillo De Montjuich, registered at Cadiz, has been on the Boston-La Coruna run for 10 years. It is owned by the firm of Elcano.

In New York, the U.S. Coast Guard launched a wide search for the vessel, alerting ships at sea to be on the lookout.

It said the last reported position of the vessel was approximately 400 miles northwest of the Azores on Dec. 14. The Castillo De Montjuich had left Boston, Dec. 5 and was due at La Coruna on Dec. 20.

No emergency signals were received from the ship at any time, the Coast Guard said. The vessel is 444 feet long and was built in 1919.

SO DON'T CALL US;
WE'LL CALL YOU

By and large, the dialers of wrong numbers are the most persistent people within the human family. They not only dial the wrong number; they insist, to whoever answers the phone, they dialed the right number. Informed of their error, they hang up and dial right back. Told that they've missed again, some of them grow abusive.

These calls invariably come when you're just sitting down to breakfast, just dropping off to sleep, or trying to take a bath. You say hello, because a ringing telephone is hard to ignore and, besides, it might be the office. "Is Jack there?" a female voice says. You say "I'm sorry, you have the wrong number." "Tell him to come to the phone." "But Honey —" you say. "This ain't Honey; this is Annie." Well, Annie, there's no Jack here; you dialed the wrong number.

You hang up the receiver and resume whatever you were doing. The phone rings again. You rush to answer, muttering unprintable oaths. "Jack's on his way home," you growl into the mouthpiece. This time it's a gal from the office. "Sorry," she says, "I must have dialed the wrong number."

State Duel Economy Is Developed

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Writer

Arkansas' financial progress in 1963 was highlighted by a merger of agriculture and industry to give the state a dual economy.

The state gained a record 205 new plants and expansions, while farmers produced record rice and cotton crops and made strides in research toward more farm efficiency and new cash crops.

Arkansas has been since 1958 on a course to exchange its primary rural, agrarian nature for a more well-rounded economy. During the past five years farm tenancy has declined 53 per cent and the state's on-farm population is down from 40 per cent to less than 18.

The 205 new and expanded industrial facilities in Arkansas this year represented an investment of $72,291,100 — down from the $92.7 million reported last year, but still higher than totals for eight of the last 13 years. And the plants opened an additional 9,666 jobs.

In addition, major communications, transportation and utility companies invested $59,308,065 for extensions and improvements.

There were 66 new plants in the total and 129 expansions. They reflect more than the 9,666 jobs created at the plant sites. The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has figured that 65 additional non-manufacturing jobs are created by each 100 new manufacturing jobs.

The plants make everything from airplane parts to charcoal briquettes. Many of the new facilities tie in with farming, forestry, and poultry, such as an Arkansas Grain Crop, a soybean processing firm at Helena; the Tolber Corp. at Hope, which makes plastic coating for commercial eggs.

On the agricultural scene, farmers took advantage of a drought to produce a record 1,500,000 bales of cotton, considerably over the 1,450,000 bales produced last year.

Rice production totaled an estimated 18,105,100 hundred-weight, well above the previous record of 16,800,000 produced in 1954.

The state produced 52,152,000 bushels of soybeans this year, down from last year's production of 57,663,000, but still considered a good crop.

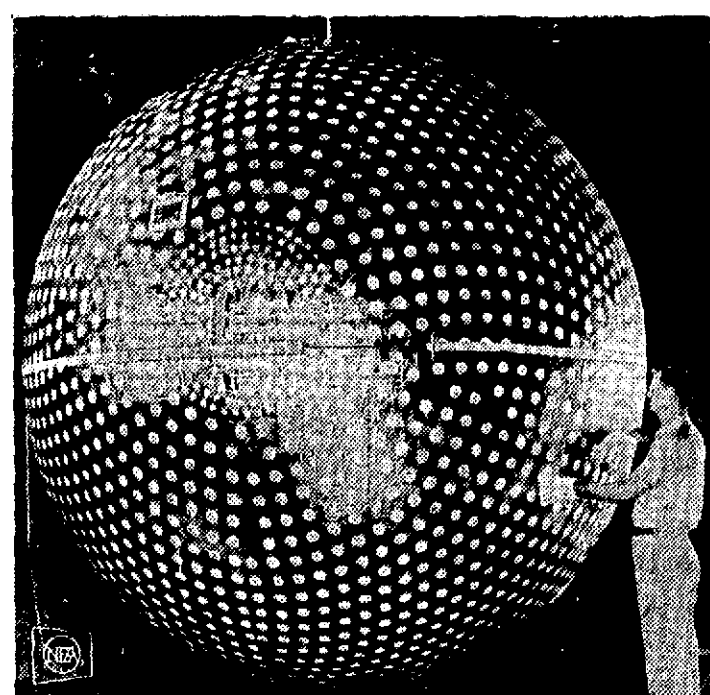

A highlight of the agricultural scene was the intense interest in new cash crops for the state. These range from okra to sugar beets and research on all was done by the University of Arkansas.

A report by the university's division of agriculture showed that Arkansas farmers may eventually be able to grow sugar beets as a major crop, possibly replacing soybeans in money value.

Many farmers in eastern Arkansas are looking to truck crops to utilize land idled by lessened acreage allotments on other crops.

The state gained in another field during the year — more plants to produce Arkansas raw products.

A large aluminum firm announced last week it would build a door-making plant to Hot Springs to employ some 400 persons. Of the 66 new plants located in Arkansas during the year, more than 45 utilize Arkansas raw products — ranging from poultry to wood.

SHE'D SWAP HOT HUSBAND FOR COLD ONE ANY DAY

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: This is addressed to that wife whose husband calls sex "kid stuff."

My Dear: you are the luckiest woman I've ever heard of. You say your husband is kind, considerate and generous enough to turn over his pay check to you. You say sex is the only thing lacking to make the picture perfect. That would suit me and thousands of other wives just fine. I sure wish I could trade mine for one like yours. He's just past 40 and obsessed by what the dime novelists used to call "the dark flower of passion."

As for me, sex is not "kid stuff" but for animals. If I had your man I'd pray he would stay as is. He sounds like a dream husband to me—too good to be true. —Envy

Dear Envy: Sex is too powerful a force to discount. Don't sell it short. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Marital Harmony."

Dear Helen: When I read that letter in your column signed "Bashful" and saw it was from a boy, I could hardly believe my eyes. It seems more like the wail of a female from this part of the country.

It also amazed me to think he was interested in church activities. Most of the men I know are only interested in drink. Tell "Bashful" to keep on looking for the right girl and, above all, hang on to his good qualities.

I get so tired reading about the troubles of married couples. We single ones have our problems too! It's a shame there aren't more social activities or get-acquainted groups. Have you any suggestions as to how to start one? —Single Female

Dear Single: Organized "Lonely Hearts" groups rarely accomplish their purpose for the simple reason that love or friendship must be spontaneous and spring from the heart not the mind. Life is a good deal like that old proverb which defines a Spanish inn: We find it in what we take to it.

If you are interesting yourself you will attract interesting people. I knew a woman who changed her life for the better by making the study of languages a hobby. Find an avocation which appeals to you then perfect yourself in it. Your local board of education can advise you on the courses to take.

Dear Helen: This is for the benefit of "Troubled" who fears electrical storms. As a young woman I too was all but driven out of my mind by thunder and lightning storms. They terrified me. Some 25 years ago when we were living in Holland, I was awakened one morning by a tremendous noise — like the crash of thunder. Thinking another electrical storm was upon us I buried my head in the pillows and tried to go back to sleep. The thunder continued. Our house shook. Frightened out of my wits, I began dressing.

What I mistook for thunder was bombing. The Germans had invaded my country. After seeing friends killed, burning airplanes plummet to earth and our city destroyed, I turned to my parents who miraculously survived and said, "I shall never fear an electrical storm again because there is something far worse than thunder and lightning—WAR!"

That statement freed me. I have not feared an electrical storm since.

The Making of the U. S. President

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—"The Making of the President 1960," a 90-minute ABC special next Sunday night, probably is the most expensive documentary ever produced for television.

David L. Wolper, head of the company that made the special, estimates the cost of translating Theodore H. White's best-selling book into a television program at around $400,000. One of Wolper's first moves was to sign up White to write the script.

The program is a careful study of the compelling forces and activities of the 1960 presidential campaign that resulted in the election of John F. Kennedy and the defeat of Richard M. Nixon.

Researchers gathered film and tape from more than 500 sources, had cooperation from the press secretaries of both candidates and access to privately owned film footage of others. It took a year and a half to round up the footage.

After the program was finished, edited and ready for broadcast, President Kennedy was assassinated. Wolper and ABC decided to go ahead with the program although at some points the portraits of the two candidates are not completely flattering.

In a brief prologue, White wrote: "We have left (the program) as it was then, believing that the noble profession of politics and the men who aspired to lead us are greater in candid recollection."

Lyndon B. Johnson was one of the serious contenders for the Democratic presidential nomination and the program's interpretation of his strength and weakness as a vote-getter and his skill at political maneuvering are explored with this same candor. All this is especially interesting at a time when the nation is getting acquainted with its new chief of state.

U.S. Airmen in Britain Drowned

LONDON (AP)—Two U.S. airmen drowned Thursday night when their car plunged into a canal 65 miles north of London as the winter's thickest fog enveloped Britain.

The Americans' car swerved off a traffic circle into the canal at Mildenhall. There was fog in the area and roads were icy.

Killed were Airman 1.C William McFarland, 22, of Hartsville, S.C., and Airman 1.C Thomas Franklin, 20, of Ryder, N.D., both stationed at nearby Lakenheath Air Base.

McFarland is survived by his widow, Gloria, and Franklin by his widow, Dianne, and three children.

Britain was counting its highest Christmas highway toll in four years with at least 94 dead and the count still incomplete. Fog, ice and reckless driving were blamed for the accidents.

Those Frisco Cars Are Big Headache

By HAROLD V. STREETER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ah, San Francisco — cable cars, bridges, Chinatown, Fisherman's Wharf.

Even Soviet Premier Khrushchev fell in love with the city by the Golden Gate, spawned back in 1949 by a capitalistic rush for gold.

Let's have a closer look. Now about those cable cars: at the turn of the century, 13 lines sent dozens of them clucking and clanging over the hills. Today there are 27 cars in daily service. And they are one big financial headache.

All repairs and spare parts have to be homemade. It would be cheaper to use buses. A hard core of defenders, known as the Citizens' Committee to Save the Cable Cars, stands firm at the turntables just daring anybody to junk them.

Bridges: More than 21 million car trips are checked off yearly at the toll gates of the 4,200-foot $35-million Golden Gate Bridge. More than 40 million are recorded over the 3 1/4-mile $77.2 million San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. They're a life-blood trade artery, no question about that.

But there's another side of the picture. They doomed a city approach which was relaxed and eye-grabbing — the ferries. And patrolmen are busy trying to keep people from jumping off them. Since the Bay bridge opened in 1936 and the Golden Gate in 1937, the known total death leaps exceed 300. It's an unavoidable price of progress.

Chinatown? You haven't really lived until you've been packed like a sardine amongst thousands in narrow Grant Avenue at the Chinese New Year parade—the man-footed, cloth-covered dragon; popping firecrackers splitting the ear drums.

Maybe you were among the couple of million who poured more than $115 million in tourist money into San Francisco this year. But if you stopped in a Chinatown store to pack off an oriental tidbit as a souvenir, turn it over and look at the bottom. The Red Chinese "bamboo curtain" being what it is, chances are you will read: "Made in Japan."

Over at Fisherman's Wharf, only the wharf stays the same. The fish and the men change. Time was when the bay shrimp were so succulent and distinctive that maestro Arthur Fiedler swore he could tell by the taste the difference between North

Bay and South Bay shrimp. He can't any more. The bay shrimp vanished.

There's one other thing. If you are talking about a railroad, okay; but if about the city—don't call it Frisco.

LBJ Trying to Stampede Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., charged President Johnson today with trying to stampede Congress and with treating some legislators as his "personal errand boys."

"I deeply resent the President's attempt to play politics with Christmas by stampeding votes on the highly questionable foreign-aid bill during the holidays," Goldwater said in a telegram to Senate Republican officials here.

Goldwater, who may try for the Republican presidential nomination next year, is recuperating in Phoenix, from an operation to remove a calcium deposit or spur from his right heel.

His criticism of Johnson was in reference to maneuvers which held senators and House members in an all-night session last week in a dispute over the $3-billion foreign-aid bill and an attached rider to ban government guarantees of any credit sales of wheat to the Soviet Union.

The House finally approved, 189-158, Tuesday a version of the bill without the ban. Many members had been called back from Christmas holiday trips for the voting.

Senators have been asked to return Monday to complete action on the measure and agree to final adjournment of the first session of the 88th Congress.

Small Portion of State Roads Paved

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The state Highway Department figures there are 80,000 miles of roads in Arkansas — 14,615 of them paved.

The department's research staff said there were 79,748.17 miles of roads in Arkansas at the beginning of this year. The exact total at the end of the year will be computed next month.

The 1962 breakdown: 55,845 miles of county roads, 11,315 of state highways, 5,804 of city streets, 2,145 of forest roads and 4,636 of private roads.

The department said the major increase this year would be in city streets.

HECTIC HOCKEY—Things got rough as the New York Rangers and the Montreal Canadiens engaged in a Donnybrook on the ice at Madison Square Garden. That's referee Art Skov, 4, pulling Montreal defenseman Jean Guy Talbot, 17, apart from Ranger Larry Cahen. LITTLE ROCK (A) — Patrolman Harold D. Allison of the Little Rock Police Department appealed his Dec. 14 dismissal to the city's Civil Service Commission Thursday.

He was fired by Police Chief R. E. Brians for violating department regulations and Patrolman George Hirsch was suspended for 30 days.

Brians did not specify the alleged violations, but said the cases were related. Hirsch appealed his suspension Monday.

The commission has 15 days to set a date for hearing the appeals.

Arkansas Girl Is Miss Liberty

LESLIE, Ark. (AP)—Sara Jo Fendley, 22, of Leslie, has been selected Miss Liberty in an insurance company-sponsored contest and will ride in the Rose Bowl Parade at Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 1.

She will fly to California Saturday.

Sara Jo, a graduate student at the University of Arkansas and a folk singer and dancer, almost didn't enter the contest.

But she picked up an entry blank when it became her duty, as a dormitory counselor, to distribute blanks to interested girls in her dormitory.

Sara Jo was National Strawberry Queen her senior year in high school and was runnerup in an Arkansas Forest Queen contest.

Buchanan Now Has a Steady Job

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Dentistry's gift to acting, Edgar Buchanan, appears to have found a steady job.

"I don't count on anything until it happens," says Buchanan. "But it looks pretty good."

He needn't be so cautious in talking about "Petticoat Junction," the television series in which he is a star. It has scored higher in the ratings than any other new show this season and appears a cinch to continue running.

"If it happens, that's okay with me," Buchanan said. "This series has cured my ulcer. I don't have to worry about where my next job is coming from—not for a while, anyway."

Buchanan acted in 15 or more television series during the year, and he figures he's taking a loss by sticking with "Petticoat Junction." But it's steady, and he's getting more public recognition, and he'll be able to pick up some of that lush personal appearance money available to television stars.

"Petticoat Junction" could scarcely have been made without Buchanan, trafficking as it does in small-town humor. He has played more village rogues and grizzled deputies than he can remember.

The Buchanan sag is part of Hollywood legend—how he took a drama course at the University of Oregon because he needed to raise his grade average.

how he got the acting bug and wanted to quit his medical studies, how his father, a doctor, urged him to study dentistry so he would have a profession to fall back on.

Buchanan practiced dentistry for 10 years, then came to the Pasadena Playhouse and was discovered by the movies.

Southern State Building Burns

MAGNOLIA, Ark. (AP)—An early-morning fire destroyed the hay barn and feed barn at Southern State College and threatened the college's main agriculture building, in which some students live.

No injuries were reported. Billy Ray Machen, college plant engineer, said he did not know how the fire began and no estimate of damage was made immediately.

The fire also destroyed 2,500 to 3,500 bales of hay and feed mixing equipment.

The principal danger to the steel-structure main agriculture building was from intense heat, Machen said. Firemen fought the flames for nearly six hours.

Asks No Dogs Be Sent to White House

By J. W. DAVIS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, a dog lover but still a man of prudence, has done the sensible thing again.

He has asked that Americans not flood the White House with gifts of dogs and other animals.

Specifically, the President accepted the gift of a white collie from a 9-year-old Illinois girl, but asked at the same time that others who want to send animal gifts to give them instead to children or institutions in their own communities.

The first family already had two Beagles and two Beagles just by themselves are a lot of dogs.

Every first family has been deluged with gifts, some of them probably to the point of embarrassment. No one likes to return a gift, or to refuse one that is well-meant, even if it is not particularly wanted and has to be fed.

The John F. Kennedys, having two small children, were particularly showered with pets, but they always seemed to have room for one more.

In addition to three ponies, the Kennedys were honored with dogs galore, the most famous being Pushinka, the offspring of a Soviet space dog. She was a gift from Premier Khrushchev.

Other Kennedy dogs included Charlie, a Welsh terrier; an Irish wolfhound, various cockers, a German shepherd and some pups born to Pushinka and Charlie.

Dogs have always been the most popular presidential pets, beginning with George Washington. An exception to the dog-loving line was President Harry S. Truman, but his friends were always quick to point out that he had nothing against dogs.

A White House dog that figured in politics was Fala, a lively Scottie belonging to President Franklin D. Roosevelt. In the 1944 presidential campaign, some critics of FDR charged that a destroyer was sent to the Aleutian Islands at heavy expense to the taxpayers after Fala allegedly had been left behind in one of the President's trips.

Roosevelt turned the tables in a radio broadcast, still remembered as a campaign masterpiece, which poked ridicule at politicians who stooped to attack "my little dog, Fala."

During the first world war the White House grounds were pasture for a flock of sheep. President Woodrow Wilson had a double purpose: to help keep the grass trimmed and to provide wool that could be sold for the benefit of the Red Cross.

President William McKinley had a parrot which, so it has been chronicled, could whistle "Yankee Doodle Dandy."

And President William Howard Taft owned a Jersey cow named Pauline.

Wants Pope's Visit to Aid Relations

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A noted Moslem scholar hopes Pope Paul's pilgrimage to the Holy Land next week will promote more sympathetic understanding among Christians and Moslems, linked by many common beliefs but separated by wide gulfs.

Mohammed afullah Khan, a leading authority on Islam, predicts the pontiff will be received by Moslems with deep respect, because sayings of the Prophet Mohammed enjoin his followers to honor those who are honored among their own people.

Zafullah Khan, former United Nations General Assembly president and former foreign minister of Pakistan, is now a member of the International Court. He believes the great religions gradually are drawing closer and he hopes the papal visit will help that process.

Pope Paul will travel through Israel, which regards itself as the national home of all Jews, and through neighboring Jordan, whose population, while containing many Christians, is predominantly Moslem and ruled by a young king claiming descent from the prophet.

Islam, the religion of the Moslems, comes from the Arabic word Aslama, meaning submit. Moslem comes from the same root, and means one who has submitted. The Koran, Islam's bible, is the body of revelations from God to his prophet, Mohammed. But Mohammed was mortal. Moslems do not consider him divine.

What separates Islam and Christianity, both cradled in the Holy Land? afullah Khan says the greatest difference is in how they regard Jesus Christ.

To Christians in general, Jesus the Messiah is the Son of God, one of the Holy Trinity of Father, Son and Holy Spirit.

To Moslems, Jesus is an honored prophet, but not the Son of God except in the sense that all men are God's children. To Moslems, belief in a trinity is to imply that there is more than one God.

Both Christians and Moslems revere the Jewish prophets of the Old Testament. Both believe in a judgment day and life after death, both believe Jesus is in heaven and has access to God. But there are differences.

The Moslems have no priesthood. Islam has imams—leaders, and teachers, but it is the most secular of religions.

To Moslems, the emphasis is on a god of power. The idea of a god of love is less evident than in Christianity.

Islam is based on the five pillars: faith, prayer, alms, fasting and pilgrimage to Mecca in Saudi Arabia. These are the duties of a Moslem, and every Moslem hopes to become a haji, one who has made the pilgrimage.

The Indians used their pottery mainly for cooking, carrying, and boiling water, making salt an dugar for storing away foods, and also in religious and burial customs.

for the 7,072-ton Spanish freighter Castillo De Montjuich, six days overdue on a voyage from Boston, Mass., to La Coruna.

Between 40 and 50 men were aboard the ship, which had a general cargo of 9,000 tons.

The Spanish cruiser Canarias and two frigates searched Atlantic waters for the ship.

The Castillo De Montjuich, registered at Cadiz, has been on the Boston-La Coruna run for 10 years. It is owned by the firm of Elcano.

In New York, the U.S. Coast Guard launched a wide search for the vessel, alerting ships at sea to be on the lookout.

It said the last reported position of the vessel was approximately 400 miles northwest of the Azores on Dec. 14. The Castillo De Montjuich had left Boston, Dec. 5 and was due at La Coruna on Dec. 20.

SO DON'T CALL US; WE'LL CALL YOU

By and large, the dialers of wrong numbers are the most persistent people within the human family. They not only dial the wrong number; they insist, to whoever answers the phone, they dialed the right number. Informed of their error, they hang up and dial right back. Told that they've missed again, some of them grow abusive.

These calls invariably come when you're just sitting down to breakfast, just dropping off to sleep, or trying to take a bath. You say hello, because a ringing telephone is hard to ignore and, besides, it might be the office. "Is Jack there?" a female voice says. You say "I'm sorry, you have the wrong number."

"Tell him to come to the phone." "But Honey—" you say. "This ain't Honey; this is Annie." Well, Annie, there's no Jack here; you dialed the wrong number.

You hang up the receiver and resume whatever you were doing. The phone rings again. You rush to answer, muttering unprintable oaths. "Jack's on his way home," you growl into the mouthpiece. This time it's a gal from the office. "Sorry," she says, "I must have dialed the wrong number."

State Duel Economy Is Developed

By J. C. TILLMAN
Associated Press Writer

Arkansas' financial progress in 1963 was highlighted by a merger of agriculture and industry to give the state a dual economy.

The state gained a record 205 new plants and expansions, while farmers produced record rice and cotton crops and made strides in research toward more farm efficiency and new cash crops.

Arkansas has been since 1958 on a course to exchange its primary rural, agrarian nature for a more well-rounded economy. During the past five years farm tenancy has declined 53 per cent and the state's on-farm population is down from 40 per cent to less than 18.

The 205 new and expanded industrial facilities in Arkansas this year represented an investment of $72,291,100 — down from the $92.7 million reported last year, but still higher than totals for eight of the last 13 years. And the plants opened an additional 9,666 jobs.

In addition, major communications, transportation and utility companies invested $59,308,065 for extensions and improvements.

There were 66 new plants in the total and 129 expansions. They reflect more than the 9,666 jobs created at the plant sites. The U.S. Chamber of Commerce has figured that 65 additional non-manufacturing jobs are created by each 100 new manufacturing jobs.

The plants make everything from airplane parts to charcoal briquettes. Many of the new facilities tie in with farming, forestry, and poultry, such as an Arkansas Grain Crop, a soybean processing firm at Helena; the Tolber Corp. at Hope, which makes plastic coating for commercial eggs.

On the agricultural scene, farmers took advantage of a drought to produce a record 1,500,000 bales of cotton, considerably over the 1,450,000 bales produced last year.

Rice production totaled an estimated 18,105,100 hundred-weight, well above the previous record of 16,800,000 produced in 1954.

The state produced 52,152,000 bushels of soybeans this year, down from last year's production of 57,663,000, but still considered a good crop.

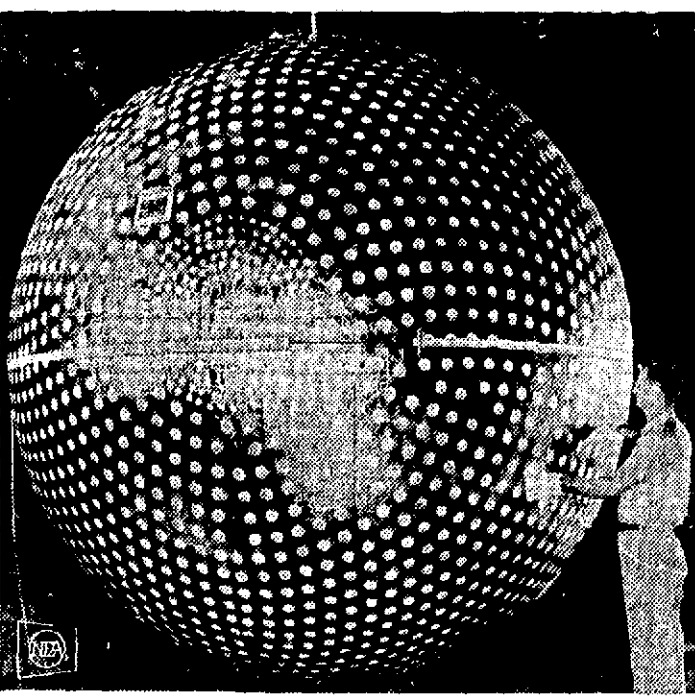

A highlight of the agricultural scene was the intense interest in new cash crops for the state. These range from okra to sugar beets and research on all was done by the University of Arkansas.

A report by the university's division of agriculture showed that Arkansas farmers may eventually be able to grow sugar beets as a major crop, possibly replacing soybeans in money value.

Many farmers in eastern Arkansas are looking to truck crops to utilize land idled by lessened acreage allotments on other crops.

The state gained in another field during the year — more plants to produce Arkansas raw products.

A large aluminum firm announced last week it would build a door-making plant to Hot Springs to employ some 400 persons. Of the 66 new plants located in Arkansas during the year, more than 45 utilize Arkansas raw products — ranging from poultry to wood.

SHE'D SWAP HOT HUSBAND FOR COLD ONE ANY DAY

By Helen Worden Erskine

Dear Helen: This is addressed to that wife whose husband calls sex "kid stuff."

My Dear: you are the luckiest woman I've ever heard of. You say your husband is kind, considerate and generous enough to turn over his pay check to you. You say sex is the only thing lacking to make the picture perfect. That would suit me and thousands of other wives just fine. I sure wish I could trade mine for one like yours. He's just past 40 and obsessed by what the dime novelists used to call "the dark flower of passion."

As for me, sex is not "kid stuff" but for animals. If I had your man I'd pray he would stay as is. He sounds like a dream husband to me—too good to be true. —Envy

Dear Envy: Sex is too powerful a force to discount. Don't sell it short. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for my leaflet, "Marital Harmony."

Dear Helen: When I read that letter in your column signed "Bashful" and saw it was from a boy, I could hardly believe my eyes. It seems more like the wail of a female from this part of the country.

It also amazed me to think he was interested in church activities. Most of the men I know are only interested in drink. Tell "Bashful" to keep on looking for the right girl and, above all, hang on to his good qualities.

I get so tired reading about the troubles of married couples. We single ones have our problems too! It's a shame there aren't more social activities or get-acquainted groups. Have you any suggestions as to how to start one? —Single Female

Dear Single: Organized "Lonely Hearts" groups rarely accomplish their purpose for the simple reason that love or friendship must be spontaneous and spring from the heart not the mind. Life is a good deal like that old proverb which defines a Spanish inn: We find it what we take to it.

If you are interesting yourself you will attract interesting people. I knew a woman who changed her life for the better by making the study of languages a hobby. Find an avocation which appeals to you then perfect yourself in it. Your local board of education can advise you on the courses to take.

Dear Helen: This is for the benefit of "Troubled" who fears electrical storms. As a young woman I too was all but driven out of my mind by thunder and lightning storms. They terrified me. Some 25 years ago when we were living in Holland, I was awakened one morning by a tremendous noise — like the crash of thunder. Thinking another electrical storm was upon us I buried my head in the pillows and tried to go back to sleep. The thunder continued. Our house shook. Frightened out of my wits, I began dressing.

What I mistook for thunder was bombing. The Germans had invaded my country. After seeing friends killed, burning airplanes plummet to earth and our city destroyed, I turned to my parents who miraculously survived and said, "I shall never fear an electrical storm again because there is something far worse than thunder and lightning—WAR!" That statement freed me. I have not feared an electrical storm since.

Have you a problem? Perhaps Helen Worden Erskine can help you. Write her in care of

Those Frisco Cars Are Big Headache

By HAROLD V. STREETER

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Ah, San Francisco — cable cars, bridges, Chinatown, Fisherman's Wharf.

Even Soviet Premier Khrushchev fell in love with the city by the Golden Gate, spawned back in 1849 by a capitalistic rush for gold.

Let's have a closer look. Now about those cable cars: at the turn of the century, 13 lines sent dozens of them clucking and clanging over the hills. Today there are 27 cars in daily service. And they are one big financial headache.

All repairs and spare parts have to be homemade. It would be cheaper to use buses. A hard core of defenders, known as the Citizens' Committee to Save the Cable Cars, stands firm at the turntables just daring anybody to junk them.

Bridges: More than 21 million car trips are checked off yearly at the toll gates of the 4,200-foot $35-million Golden Gate Bridge. More than 40 million are recorded over the 8½-mile $77.2 million San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge. They're a life - blood trade artery, no question about that.

But there's another side of the picture. They doomed a city approach which was relaxed and eye-gripping — the ferries. And patrolmen are busy trying to keep people from jumping off them. Since the Bay Bridge opened in 1936 and the Golden Gate in 1937, the known total death leaps exceed 300. It's an unavoidable price of progress.

Chinatown? You haven't really lived until you've been packed like a sardine amongst thousands in narrow Grant Avenue at the Chinese New Year parade—the man - footed, cloth-covered dragon; popping firecrackers splitting the ear drums.

Maybe you were among the couple of million who poured more than $115 million in tourist money into San Francisco this year. But if you stopped in a Chinatown store to pack off an oriental tidbit as a souvenir, turn it over and look at the bottom. The Red Chinese "bamboo curtain" being what it is, chances are you will read: "Made in Japan."

Over at Fishermen's Wharf, only the wharf stays the same. The fish and the men change. Time was when the bay shrimp were so succulent and distinctive that maestro Arthur Fiedler swore he could tell by the taste the difference between North

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., charged President Johnson today with trying to stampede Congress and with treating some legislators as his "personal errand boys."

"I deeply resent the President's attempt to play politics with Christmas by stampeding votes on the highly questionable foreign-aid bill during the holidays," Goldwater said in a telegram to Senate Republican officials here.

Goldwater, who may try for the Republican presidential nomination next year, is recuperating in Phoenix, from an operation to remove a calcium deposit or spur from his right heel.

His criticism of Johnson was in reference to maneuvers which held senators and House members in an all-night session last week in a dispute over the $3-billion foreign-aid bill and an attached rider to ban government guarantees of any credit sales of wheat to the Soviet Union.

The House finally approved, 189-158, Tuesday a version of the bill without the ban. Many members had been called back from Christmas holiday trips for the voting.

Senators have been asked to return Monday to complete action on the measure and agree to final adjournment of the first session of the 88th Congress.

Small Portion of State Roads Paved

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Highway Department figures there are 80,000 miles of roads in Arkansas — 14,615 of them paved.

The department's research staff said there were 79,748.17 miles of roads in Arkansas at the beginning of this year. The exact total at the end of the year will be computed next month.

The 1962 breakdown: 55,845 miles of county roads, 11,315 of state highways, 5,804 of city streets, 2,145 of forest roads and 4,636 of private roads.

The department said the major increase this year would be in city streets.

Bay and South Bay shrimp. He can't any more. The bay shrimp vanished.

There's one other thing. If you are talking about a railroad, okay; but if about the city—don't call it Frisco.

HECTIC HOCKEY—Things got rough as the New York Rangers and the Montreal Canadiens engaged in a Donnybrook on the ice at Madison Square Garden. That's referee Art Skov, 4, pulling Montreal defenseman Jean Guy Talbot, 17, apart from Ranger Larry Cahoon. Ranger Vic Hadfield, right, who had his jersey torn off during the battle, heads for the penalty box. Six players received major penalties for the affray.

AWARD-WINNING DESIGN —By constructing its 19-story building on a 45-degree angle to its rectangular lot, United States Gypsum was able to use its entire building site on two sub-street levels, beautify its triangular plazas at street level and provide ample light on all sides. The building received the 8th Annual Merit Award of the Chicago Building Congress.

LITTLE ROCK (A) — Patrolman Harold D. Allison of the Little Rock Police Department appealed his Dec. 14 dismissal to the city's Civil Service Commission Thursday.
He was fired by Police Chief R. E. Briens for violating department regulations and Patrolman George Hirtill was suspended for 30 days.

... was God. He created Heaven and Earth. He gave us this New Year. What will YOU do with it...
365 days? It is time for us to begin again. This New Year is young, clean, glorious and offers us opportunity to make valid resolutions. As suddenly as the flash from a bolt of lightning... God gave us this New Year. And as surely as we live this hour, He expects us to use it honorably.
Resolve to attend church more often.
